AUSTIN BAKES FOR AUSTIN ON SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 30th

Five Austin Locations to Hold Bake Sales with All Proceeds Going to Austin Flood Relief Efforts

Austin, TX (November 21, 2013) -- On Saturday, November 30th from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., hundreds of bakers, bloggers, businesses, and consumers will unite for "Austin Bakes for Austin," a bake sale fundraising event to help those affected by the recent flooding in Austin, Texas. Over 80 home cooks and dozens of local businesses will be contributing baked goods at locations throughout Austin, with proceeds going to the Austin Disaster Relief Network.

Austin Bakes for Austin locations:

Central: Foreign & Domestic, 306 E. 53rd Street, 78751
Downtown: Whole Foods Market Lamar, 525 N. Lamar Boulevard, 78703
East: Sugar Circus Bakery, 2613 E 5th St, Austin, TX 78702
North: Make It Sweet, 9070 Research Blvd #203, Austin, TX 78757
South: Crema Bakery, 9001 Brodie Lane, Suite B, 78748

Baked goods will include cookies, cupcakes, brownies, pies and pastries of all kinds. Several home bakers are creating Texas and holiday-themed confections for the sale, while others will be baking locally sourced, organic, vegan or gluten-free items. In addition, customers may purchase gourmet pastries that have been donated by some of Austin's finest professional bakers and restaurants.

All funds raised will go to the Austin Disaster Relief Network, to benefit survivors of the late October flooding that ravaged homes in Austin and Pflugerville. Those who wish to make a gift in advance of the sale may do so at Austin Bakes for Austin's secure, online giving page.

Get Involved:

We encourage everyone to visit the bake sale locations to support this effort by spreading the word, liking Austin Bakes on Facebook, following us on Twitter (@austinbakes), or by making a gift online. Those interested in providing baked goods and/or volunteering should visit AustinBakes.com/signup to sign up.

Austin Bakes for Austin is being organized by the same team of food enthusiasts and bloggers who presented Austin Bakes for Japan, Austin Bakes for Bastrop, and Austin Bakes for West. The group's citywide bake sales have raised over $45,000 for humanitarian relief since 2011. For more information about the sale or to make a gift online, visit www.AustinBakes.com.

The Austin Disaster Relief Network is nonprofit disaster relief and humanitarian aid organization comprised of a network of over 110 churches in the Austin area. They are coordinating volunteer and support teams to help over 500 families impacted by the recent floods, as well as providing financial support directly to families in need.
